

Dear scientific communication lovers!

Let me introduce you the Pint of Science (PoS) festival that brings scientists to share their latest research with the world.

During May 2019, thousands of researchers across 400 cities and 24 countries shared and discussed their findings with people in their local pub, bar or cafe (check out our websites: www.pintofscience.nl for the Netherlands or pintofscience.com worldwide).

We will be back the 11, 12 and 13 th of May 2020! For the first time we are also organizing an event in Leiden, we are very enthusiastic about it and are now looking for team members who want to participate. We have various functions that you can do:

- program managers;
- bar manager;
- communication manager;
- sponsor manager;
- people who contact talented speakers;
- ...

There is something wild for everyone! This is a great opportunity to become acquainted with science communication and its growing popularity. We are very proud that PoS is growing so fast and very happy that there will be an event in Leiden this year.

Do you want to join and organize it with us? Don't wait and send Maria (Leiden city coordinator): pintofscienceleiden@gmail.com
